Brief content:

Living, learning and even spending your free time together with your best friends. It sounds really great! At least until asbestos causes quite a stir in the dormitories of the boarding school right at the beginning of the new school year. Now rooms have to be occupied twice and sometimes even mixed. And if that isn't bad enough, also this year's summer party is going to be cancelled due to the renovation costs. But the students of the elite boarding school do not simply accept that!

Joyn will show every week two new episodes of the twelve-part series produced by PANTAFLIX Studios free of charge starting from October 15.

"We are very happy to have laid the foundation for further PANTAFLIX Studios productions with the first season of DAS INTERNAT and are looking forward to the start of Joyn in October. We have a holistic strategic approach at PANTAFLIX Studios that not only includes the production of high quality contents. We also consider the areas of Marketing, PR, Social Media, as well as potential partnerships concerning brand and media penetration from the very beginning and we can therefore offer ready-to-use solutions. A huge thank you goes to the entire team in front of and behind the camera, which, despite the difficult corona conditions, delivered a truly sensational series with a lot of passion, energy and joy," comments Manuel Uhlitzsch, Managing Director of PANTAFLIX Studios.
